USER STORIES

As a student, I want a quick way to record what I'm grateful for after classes so I can keep a positive mindset and handle academic stress better

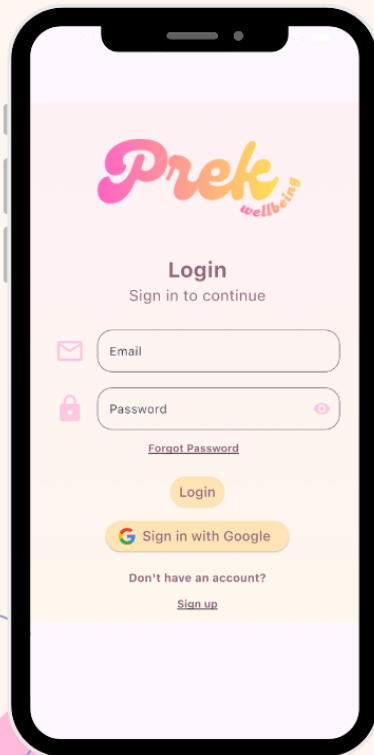

As someone working on their mental health, I want to review my past gratitude entries so that I can see how far I've come and stay motivated on harder days.

As a busy professional, I want short daily prompts that guide my gratitude reflections so that I can practice mindfulness without adding extra effort to my schedule.

LIVE DEMO

PROJECT MANAGER AND CLIENT LIAISON

Client Liaison:

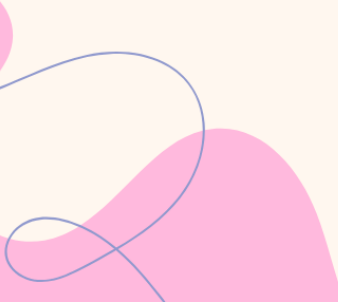

Layan Alaskar

Rotating Project Manager:

Weeks 2–7: Layan Alaskar

Weeks 8–12: Daud Ismail

Our role:

- Organised weekly team meetings
 - Held teammates accountable
 - Made sure we stayed on-top of our work
 - In charge of the flow of our discussions

CLIENT FEEDBACK

Client provided limited feedback, mainly confirming satisfaction.

We had to rely on internal evaluation within our team to ensure app met project requirements

KEY CHALLENGES

Work practice:

Initially met 4 hours once a week, was inefficient
switched to 2 hour a week

Large commits and PRs:

Smaller and more consistent, easier to review and debug.

KEY CHALLENGES

Difficult Client:

- Absent from meetings
- Unprofessional emails targeting specific students
- No strong opinions about our work
- Project brief we initially received was full of inaccurate information due to the use of AI
- Wanted features that had ethical issues pertaining to religion

Solutions:

- Being direct about the unrealistic expectations
 - Setting Boundaries
 - Limiting communication with client to only when necessary
 - Going to the drop-ins to keep Sara updated

GOALS

Short Term

Connect history page so past entries show
Add unit testing for database

Long Term

Implement offline mode
Voice input system

The image features a light beige background with the words "THANK YOU" centered in a large, bold, black serif font. The text is flanked by decorative elements: pink and purple abstract shapes and blue dots in the corners, and pink line-art leaves in the top-left and bottom-right corners.

THANK YOU
